To: State Board of Pardons & Paroles,

Troy Davis awaits execution on Georgia's death row for the murder of a police officer. However, serious doubts about his guilt have arisen. His conviction was based on inconsistent witness testimony and no physical evidence. Six of nine prosecution witnesses have since recanted or contradicted their original testimony. Most reported being coerced by police to implicate Davis, despite not having seen him shoot the officer. One key witness against Davis has been implicated by nine individuals as the actual murderer.

This new evidence has not received meaningful review in the appeals process. Your power to grant clemency is a critical safeguard against our state making the worst possible error. Please prevent his execution by granting clemency.
